

Privacy Policy.

Ruhl Strategic Partners uses Google Analytics to collect information about how visitors access and use our website (<https://ruhisp.com>.) We do not use Google Analytics to identify individual users. If you do not wish to have this information collected, Google has created a web browser plugin that will disable the Google Analytics cookie on your browser.

Download the add-on here.

Information collected by Google Analytics may include:

- The date, time and duration of your visit to RuhISP.com
- Any pages you viewed on RuhISP.com, including the first and last pages
- Your Country, State, and City of origin
- Website links, ads or search terms that brought you to RuhISP.com
- If you are signed into a Google account, Age, Gender and Market Segmentation information you may have provided in your Google profile may also be provided

Information we do NOT Collect through Google Analytics:

- Identifying information such as your Name, Address, Telephone Number or Mailing Address
- Your shopping/purchasing habits on other websites
- Your browsing history, other than if you followed a link from an external website to RuhISP.com
- Your future browsing habits, other than if you follow a link from RuhISP.com to a page on an external website

In addition, users may voluntarily provide information through a form on our website.

The information we collect may be used to monitor our site and implement improvements to provide a better user experience. We may also use information provided in our contact form for marketing Ruhl Strategic Partners at a later date, users will always be able to opt-out of our marketing materials.

No information collected automatically or voluntarily will be sold to outside vendors.

For more information please contact Ruhl Strategic Partners at info@ruhisp.com

